On Thursday, September 23, 2010, the NCR REA will hold its thirteenth annual meeting at the NCR Country Club in Dayton, OH. As in previous years, we are offering various activities to provide you more opportunity to network with friends and former associates. Check out our schedule below!

OUR PLANNED ITINERARY

- 09:00 a.m. - 10:00 a.m. - Reception / Complimentary Continental Breakfast.
- 10:00 a.m. - 11:30 a.m. - Regular business meeting and presentations by special guests and members. This year, we’ll be showcasing two speakers: one from NCR, one from Teradata. Presenter names to be announced.
- 11:45 a.m. - 1:30 p.m. - Optional buffet luncheon ($10 per person). You must be pre-registered to attend the luncheon. In order to offer the buffet, the NCR Country Club requires at least 25 participants. If less than 25 sign up, we will promptly refund your money. You will receive a luncheon ticket when you check in on September 23.
- 1:30 p.m. - Putting Contest! You must be pre-registered to attend the contest. We will be providing putters and awarding PRIZES!
- 1:30 p.m. - Dayton History (NCR Archive) Tour in Downtown Dayton! Limited to 25 people, first come, first serve. Pre-register early to ensure your reservation!

You can find the registration form on page 9 of this newsletter and in the MEMBERS ONLY section of our web site, www.ncr-rea.org. Please complete the form as soon as possible and send it in.

Registrations must reach us NO LATER than Tuesday, September 14, 2010!

We look forward to seeing you in September!
LETTER FROM THE PRESIDENT

Welcome everyone to our 3rd Quarter newsletter for 2010! I hope you’re having a fine Summer and looking forward to the annual NCR REA meeting on Thursday, September 23!

Your Board of Trustees has been working on finalizing the meeting agenda and planned activities for our upcoming meeting at the NCR Country Club. For details about this year’s meeting, refer to our cover story. Also, if you plan to attend, please complete the registration form on page 9 and mail it in as soon as possible. We must receive registrations no later than September 14, 2010.

Last year, 90 people attended the meeting. This year, we hope to break 100! We are really excited about this year’s agenda. Our planned presentations include comprehensive updates on NCR, Teradata, and the NCR REA. As always, not only does our annual meeting provide some good information, it’s also a great opportunity to reunite with friends, acquaintances, and former coworkers.

FAREWELL NCR CELEBRATION PICNIC AT OLD RIVER PARK

On Thursday, June 24, 2010, over 500 NCR associates showed up for a gathering at Old River to celebrate NCR’s 126th year legacy in Dayton, Ohio. It was a great picnic and good time for all. It included lots of laughter, a mix of tears and emotion, and a lifetime of history on display. Many thanks to those NCR folks who planned the event. For complete story and photos, see page 10.

During the event, the NCR REA introduced people to our organization and distributed over 300 membership brochures. As a result, we have already acquired some new members!

We look forward to seeing you in September.

Sincerely,

Gordon E. Meister
President
DID YOU KNOW...

Now for some interesting, historical tidbits!

Longest Customer Name?
Back in 2006, I wrote an article about what some folks thought to be the longest customer name ever to appear on an NCR order form. It was a Greek name with 33 letters! Recently, one of our retired friends, Ian Ormerod of NCR England, read that article and relayed to me a story about an English customer with an unusual name. In 1961, a Class 51 was sold to a store in LLANFAIRPWLLGWYNGYLLGOGERYCI, Wales. This village name actually means, “The church of St. Mary in the hollow of the White Hazel trees.”

NCR Street Names
Any of you who worked at or visited NCR Dayton during your career probably remember two campus streets named L and K. Ever wonder why NCR used letter designations rather than common street names? According to the 1895 Dayton Atlas, the area where the NCR factory was finally built had been previously platted as residential. Since the Patterson family owned the land, we believe that Mr. Patterson had plans to sell the property for individual housing. The Atlas shows both a Key Street and a Locust Street running east and west from Main Street, up near the University of Dayton, where land was still uncharted by the city.

We surmise that around the late 1800s, Mr. Patterson was concerned that the Miami, Mad, and Stillwater Rivers would someday flood downtown Dayton. (Of course, 1913 proved him right!) With that in mind and factory expansion a must, Mr. Patterson decided to move the factory from downtown Dayton to his property up the hill and to the south of the city. At that time, the property was charted and mapped as a manufacturing complex. The new maps no longer showed a Key Street or a Locust Street. Instead, they showed K and L streets. Evidently, the names Key and Locust were already used elsewhere in the city, so a name change was necessary.

Microfiche to the Rescue
As American businesses grew in size and number, so did the amount of paper documents those companies generated. As a result, efficient document storage and retrieval became a huge problem. In 1961, an NCR scientist came to the rescue. Working in California, Carl Carlson developed a solution to the problem. He was able to reduce images by a factor greater than 200 to 1, then place those images on film. Born was the Microfiche. The average film sheet was 4x6 inches and contained 100 typewritten pages. Special magnification readers were developed to retrieve and read the film. To test the limits of the process, NCR was able to reduce the complete Bible onto a film sheet only two inches square. To promote the process, NCR distributed thousands of these. With millions of documents preserved and stored in this manner, and with an estimated 500 years life expectancy, in spite of the computer, microfiche is still used today!

Charles Kettering Inventions For NCR
Straight out of Engineering School at Ohio State, Charles Kettering joined the Inventions Department with NCR in 1904. Before he left NCR to found Dayton Engineering Laboratories Company (Delco) to develop, build, and market the first electric starter for the automobile, he developed and patented two major inventions for the Company.

First, he developed an electric motor that opened a cash register drawer automatically with no manual cranking! The first unit was installed in the Cigar Shop of the Phillips Hotel in Dayton. The first day, 2800 sales were registered as curious customers purchased cigar products just to see the cash register operate.

Second, Kettering developed the first credit system. At the time, when customers wanted to purchase on credit, there was no efficient way to verify the customer had good credit with the store, and no good method to approve the sale.

Often, the Credit Department was far away from the sales floor and in bigger stores, it was usually on a different floor. If a merchant granted undue credit, the store could incur a loss. Still, the merchant didn’t want to upset customers by making them wait too long for approval.

The Solution: Mr. Kettering modified a standard telephone with a solenoid-operated stamping device and connected phones by dedicated lines from the sales departments to the Credit Department. A salesperson would call the Credit Department, provide customer information, and within a few moments receive verbal refusal, or the Credit Department would push a button that embossed the sales slip showing the credit approved.
IN MEMORIAM
This column depends on your contribution of information about the deaths of your former co-workers and friends who were NCR employees. Please send a copy of the obituary or information to us.

We extend our sincere sympathy to the families of these former NCR employees.

Welcome!
Greetings everyone – friends, retirees, former colleagues! I hope this issue of the NCR REA newsletter finds you happy, healthy, and enjoying the Summer season! Seems like 2010 just arrived, and now we’re more than half way through the year! Life certainly rolls on and presents us many new challenges.

Since the Q2 issue, you may have already noticed that the REA Board of Directors has graciously passed the newsletter baton over to me. Your former editor, Dennis Neufarth, is still actively involved with the REA and has taken on some other projects. As I could clearly see from previous newsletters, Dennis is a fantastic editor and continues to do a fabulous job for this organization. As the new guy on the block, I walk gingerly in Mr. Neufarth’s footsteps in hopes to live up to the high standards he set for this job. So I thank Dennis and the entire NCR REA Board for giving me this opportunity to serve one of NCR’s most precious legacies – the retirees – and all other REA members who have contributed to NCR’s successes.

ABOUT MY NCR CAREER
Like you, I am a former NCR employee – with 31 years of service! I started my NCR career in 1978 as a software programmer, supporting commercial banking and savings and loan applications. (I still remember how proud my parents were when I told them, “I got a job at “The Cash!”) Back then, I was a techie who loved anything and everything to do with computers. NCR NEAT/3 and COBOL were the programming languages of choice at that time, and I just thrived on that stuff. On my creative side, I also loved writing, so developing technical and end-user software documentation came naturally to me.

By the early 1980s, I enjoyed writing so much, I became a full-time technical writer or, as HR called us, “Publications Specialists.” (And yes; I am one of the Ted Brusaw’s former tech-writing students!) Clearly, I found my niche. Not only did I bring my technical background to the role, I also had the freedom to be creative while writing user guides, technical manuals, and so on. It was that mix of skills that set me on course for the rest of my NCR career as a professional communicator!

Through the 1980s and 1990s, I held several project-leadership roles where I led technical-writing teams responsible for software documentation. In the late 1990s, I engaged in a dual writer / programmer role, launching new publishing technology (SGML) solutions across the company. It was that position that landed me in various higher management jobs responsible for software-development teams, data-conversion teams, and writing staffs. Those were exciting times supporting new mainstream initiatives such as online documentation, web-site development, online training, and so on.

In 2000, I joined an exciting new NCR start-up business called eCommerce Solutions. By then, Internet Banking was becoming a major player on the World Wide Web, and NCR was just then getting in the game. I joined the team as their Communications Manager. Truly a dream job! I created and implemented all their communications programs, allowing me to constantly collaborate with all NCR business units!
Regretfully, in April of 2009, my dream job as Director of Technical and Marketing Communications for NCR eCommerce ended, along with several other colleagues’ positions. A month later, I was offered a transitional role in Atlanta, GA, but I declined. Dayton is and always will be my home. And with today’s technologies, there’s no reason anyone should have to uproot their lives to sit in a cubicle in another city or state -- especially after such dedication. So I’m staying put. “Sorry Atlanta; you can’t have it all!”

Although I was deeply saddened to no longer work for NCR, and saddened the company left Dayton, I can’t deny how good NCR was to me all these years. It was a good run. I learned a lot and made a great living. Best of all, I established solid work ethics and life-long relationships with several wonderful people along the journey. Those priceless benefits will last me a lifetime. I thank NCR for that.

MY FAMILY

On October 31 (yes, Halloween), I will have been married to my wonderful wife, Ellen, for 29 years. We have one son, Brandon, soon to be 25, who is married and starting a family of his own. Of course, there’s the family dog, Taco, a Chihuahua mix, who is 15, grouchy, yet still loveable. Presently, most of our extended family and relatives are in Dayton, so that makes for easy reunions!

MY NEW BUSINESS

Since leaving NCR, instead of immediately delving into another 8-5 routine, I opted to pursue something different -- my own technical and marketing communications business. For me, it’s a huge leap of faith after steadily working for NCR the last three decades. But if I was ever going to do this, at age 52, now was the time.

Affectionately, I named my company WriteData Services, LLC (http://www.writedataservices.com) after my love for writing and what the industry now calls “content engineering.” So far, things are going pretty well and I enjoy working with a diverse set of clients. Clearly, running a business is reminiscent of days at NCR when I had to collaborate with numerous departments and personalities. I have to say that my most recent client, the NCR REA, is one of my favorites! Truly a great group of people who care deeply about all of you!

Aside from all the business stuff, I am an avid musician. I am a trained singer, plus I play bass and acoustic guitars, and piano. For those who knew me in my younger years, yes; I STILL perform in local rock bands in the Dayton and surrounding areas. My stage name is Steve Capri, a name I’ve carried over into my professional life as a published author, columnist, and speaker.

Please contact me anytime at: stevecapri@earthlink.net. I look forward to hearing from you! Cheers!

FAREWELL NCR PICNIC ..... A BITTERSWEET EVENT FOR ALL .....

On Thursday, June 24, 2010, a Farewell to Dayton picnic took place at Old River Park. This event was coordinated by NCR employees Paul Boutin, Michelle Lamance, Rose Jeffries, Warren Mansfield, June Newell, and Mary Wagner.

For many years, the saying around NCR and Dayton was “They all come back to the Cash.” Well, on this occasion, they did! More than 500 current and former employees lined up to get their name tags as they entered the Park for a picnic lunch with old friends.

Donations were accepted to pay for the food. Support was provided by local area businesses including, NCR REA, Bellyfire Catering, Teradata, Bonbright Distributing, Mike Sell’s, University of Dayton, Prime Time Party Rental, Dorothy Lane Market, Kroger, Dayton History, and the NCR Archive.

Over the years, time, hair styles, and clothing may have changed, but not the fellowship shared by NCR coworkers and friends. Truly a day to remember.
NCR REA members attended the event for fellowship and to promote your organization. A big THANK YOU to Peg Butts, REA Trustee, who distributed brochures and applications and answered many questions about the association. Due to her efforts, NCR REA has several new members!

No, this was not a bittersweet cake, but it was that kind of event. From what we observed, people were very happy to see one another. There were many handshakes, hugs, kisses, laughs, and even a few tears.

Although the longtime icon of NCR in Dayton is no more, its legacy remains in the form of friendships, marriages, families, companies, social and cultural contributions, and the many stories that will live on.
A LITTLE HUMOR (FOR THE OVER-50 GENERATION)

Submitted by Dennis Neufarth (author unknown)

I think about the 30-year business I ran with 1800 employees -- all without a Blackberry that played music, took videos, pictures, and communicated with Facebook and Twitter.

Under duress, I signed up for Twitter and Facebook, so that my seven kids, their spouses, 13 grandkids, and two great grand kids could communicate with me in the modern way. I figured I could handle something as simple as Twitter with only 140 characters of space.

That was before one of my grandkids hooked me up for Tweeter, Tweetree, Twhirl, Twitterfon, Tweetie and Twittererific Tweetdeck, Twitpix and something that sends every message to my cell phone and every other program within the texting world.

My phone was beeping every three minutes with the details of everything except the bowel movements of the entire next generation. I am not ready to live like this. I still keep my cell phone in the garage inside my golf bag.

The kids bought me a GPS for my last birthday, because they say I get lost every now and then going over to the grocery store or library. I keep that in a box under my tool bench with the Blue tooth phone (which is red) I am supposed to use when I drive. I wore the phone once and was standing in line at Barnes and Noble talking to my wife as everyone in the nearest 50 yards kept glaring at me. Seems I have to remove my hearing aid to use it, and I got a little loud.

I mean the GPS looked pretty smart on my dash board, but the lady inside was the most annoying, rudest person I had run into in a long time. Every 10 minutes she would sarcastically say, "Re-calc-ul-ating." You would think she could be nicer. It was as if she could barely tolerate me. She would let go with a deep sigh and then tell me to make a U-turn at the next light. Then, when I would make a right turn instead, it was not good.

Now when I get really lost, I call my wife and tell her the name of the cross streets, and while she is starting to develop the same tone as Gypsy, the GPS lady, at least I know she loves me.

To be perfectly frank, I am still trying to learn how to use the cordless phones in our house. We have had them for four years, but I still haven't figured out how I can lose three phones all at once and have to run around digging under chair cushions and checking bathrooms and the dirty laundry baskets when the phone rings.

The world is just getting too complex for me. They even mess me up every time I go to the grocery store. You would think they could settle on something themselves. But this sudden "Paper or Plastic?" every time I check out just knocks me for a loop. I bought some of those cloth reusable bags to avoid looking confused, but I never remember to take them in with me.

Now I toss it back to them. When they ask me, "Paper or Plastic?" I just say, "Doesn't matter to me. I am bi-sacksual." Then it's their turn to stare at me with a blank look.

Recently, I was asked if I tweet. I answered, "No, but I do toot a lot."

CLIP and SAVE
On June 24, a farewell picnic took place at Old River Park. See complete story and pictures on page 10.

On July 1, 2010, the University of Dayton took possession of the NCR World Headquarters (WHQ) building and the grounds that include Old River Park. Shorty thereafter, the university removed the NCR sign located at the 1700 S. Patterson Blvd. entrance, and removed the logo from the WHQ building.

The photo above shows “The Bunker,” the only remaining NCR-Dayton building which houses NCR’s computer / telecommunications center. Although NCR employees still work there, future plans for this facility are yet unknown.
